SPECIAL TOPICS: THE GREAT HURT

Join us for a special, two-credit hybrid course!

Discover the history of the Native American Boarding Schools.

Learn the historical influences and impact of boarding schools on American Indians.

Students and community members completing this course will gain a general understanding of the boarding school period and impact of historical trauma on American Indians.

The course meets online starting Oct. 24th and in-person two days in partnership with The College of St. Scholastica Social Work program.

November 12, students will participate in the public presentation of Carl Gawboy’s Readers Theater “The Great Hurt” and a discussion following.

To register for the class, go to the Hibbing.edu and search for MCS 1105.

CLASS STARTS OCTOBER 24!

Online class runs Oct. 24th-Dec. 13th.
Two face-to-face classes: Oct. 29th and Nov. 12th.
